LONDON (AFX) - GVM Metals LTD, the South African mineral processing and coal mining company has begun trading on the AIM.

The mining group said it has a funding plan to develop its Holfontein joint venture in South Africa, should tests results prove positive.

Simon Farrell, managing director of GVM Metals said: 'GVM plans to find and acquire suitable additional assets within the coal mining sector as we believe the outlook for coal in South Africa looks bright due to increasing power demands and the country's switch from being a coking coal exporter to an importer.'
